Caracas Military Junta Ousts 2 Leaders

Roving Mobs Of Vandals Wreak Havoc

Move Is Made To Placate Civilian Rebels' Leaders

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 24 (AP)—The day-old governing council that succeeded dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez was forced to fire two of its military members today to placate civilian rebel leaders and dissident young officers.

The action came as roving mobs of vandals spread new violence through Caracas. A curfew imposed at 5 p.m. was followed by quiet in the streets tonight.

The first advice said the two council members, Col. Roberto Casanova and Col. Abel Romero, had resigned.

Later it was determined that a strong young officer faction and the civilian rebels had forced the ouster of the men.

Both were closely identified with the overthrown regime. Both were credited with a strong part in quelling a New Year's day military uprising. Casanova was governor of Guaroico State. Romero recently had been appointed air force commander.

Reduces Council

The ouster reduced the composition of the governing council to three military men and two civilians, thus meeting objections of civilian leaders to the strong military character of the junta.

The ouster also apparently convinced one of the civilians, industrialist Eugenio Mendoza, to accept a post in the junta.

Mendoza indicated on arrival from New York today that he would not take the post. But tonight the junta president, Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal told a reporter that Mendoza will be sworn in tomorrow morning.

The governing council also took these conciliatory steps:

It dissolved the dread secret security police and replaced all police in the streets with soldiers.

It ordered evidence collected for use in trials of those charged with torturing political prisoners.

Interior Minister Torrealba ordered the governor of each state to make absolutely certain every political prisoner has been released.

The Labor Ministry announced workers will receive full wages

Winter Storm Hits Atlantic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blustery winter storm moved up the Atlantic Coast Friday. Snow piled up three to five inches deep in southwestern Virginia and neighboring parts of Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia.

A mixture of rain, sleet and snow spread into Ohio and Indiana. Heavy snow accumulations were forecast for the central Appalachians and mid Atlantic Region.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Washington issued this advisory late Friday afternoon:

"The situation is on the borderline for the larger eastern cities near the coast from Virginia northward and it now appears that precipitation in coastal areas will be mostly rain. But areas in the interior west of a line from Concord, N.H., to a short distance northwest of New York City through Washington, D. C., to around Lynchburg, Va., are expected to have heavy snow during the night and this will continue into Saturday for areas north of Maryland. Depths of snow may accumulate four to eight inches possibly more in some areas of New York state and Pennsylvania."

Heavy rains doused the Carolinas and Georgia. Augusta, Ga., had more than two inches of rain in 24 hours.

Postal Stamp Boost Asked

Price Hike Linked With U.S. Defense

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The price of postage stamps became intertwined with ballistic missiles today at a hearing before the Senate Post Office Committee.

Postmaster General Summerfield, pleading the case of nickel-letter mail, presented the committee a chart showing how much military hardware could be bought with the money his department is losing every year.

Right now, Summerfield said the Post Office Department is operating at a loss of 700 million dollars a year. He said a two-cent increase in letter postage and other proposed rate increases would yield about 700 million.

Summerfield's chart showed this kind of money would buy any one of these military packages: 8 nuclear cruisers, 17 nuclear submarines, 350 intercontinental ballistic missiles, 700 intermediate ballistic missiles, or 87 B52 jet bombers.

Pleas For Higher Rates

Pitching his plea for higher postal rates to the perils which face the nation today, Summerfield told the senators that further delay would be unthinkable.

"It is useless and dangerous to talk or even think of 'subsidies as usual' while the present threat of international tension hangs over our heads," he said.

"If we are to maintain a balanced budget and an adequate defense posture, we must face realistically the task of reducing the burden of postal deficits and the federal budget."

The Post Office Committee decided to call Summerfield back for questioning some other time.

Before the committee is a bill passed by the House last year which would raise the cost of letter mail to four cents and increase other postal rates generally. It would yield an estimated $27 million dollars more a year.

Would Be Feasible

President Eisenhower proposed that the intercity letter rate be raised to five cents, to make the total yield in additional revenue an estimated 700 million dollars a year.

Summerfield said studies had shown it would be feasible to charge four cents for local letters and a nickel for out of town letters. He said it costs six-tenths of a cent more to handle an out of town letter.

Under the proposed amendment, the postmaster general would be authorized to decide what is local mail in large cities having more than one post office district.

Reuther Backs Pact Demands

DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther said today his United Auto Workers are not strike happy but that they will fight to the limit to back up their 1958 contract demands including the controversial profit-sharing proposal.

His speech climaxed the UAW's special three-day convention and came moments after the 3,000 delegates had approved plans for a 50-million-dollar strike fund.

"We will do all humanly possible to resolve our problems at the bargaining table," he said, "but unfortunately these big corporations already are heating up the cold war of propaganda against us."

"We are not flexing our muscles — we have no chips on our shoulder as we approach the bargaining table," Reuther the UAW President, said.

The UAW, which had 24 million dollars in a strike fund Jan. 1, will raise an additional 16 million dollars by a special $5 a month increase in the regular $3 dues for three months.

The international union will borrow 10 million dollars more from UAW locals to bring the fund to 50 million dollars.

In addition, the UAW got delegate approval for plans to borrow from other unions and to mortgage UAW properties to raise additional money if needed for the strike fund. The nearly unanimous delegate support for the strike fund added emphasis for the UAW's demands on the industry's Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — for a share of the companies' profits to be divided among the workers.

Chou Refuses To Free U.S. Prisoners

Holds Out Hope Of Clemency To Three Mothers In China

HONG KONG, Jan. 24 (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai told three American mothers who journeyed all the way to Red China that he cannot free their sons from prison, but he held out hope of future clemency.

Peiping radio reported Friday the frustrating end to the mothers' weary trip, made possible when the U.S. State Department lifted its ban on travel to Red China so as to permit them to visit their imprisoned sons.

The mothers had been led to hope a personal plea to Chou would free their sons, long jailed on charges of spying — charges ridiculed by the United States. Tonight they packed their bags in Peiping for the trip home.

They leave Saturday via Canton. The mothers are Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y.; Mrs. Jessie Fecteau of Lynn, Mass.; and Mrs. Mary Downey of New Britain, Conn.

William Downey, another son who came here with Mrs. Downey, was quoted as saying the mothers were not too crushed.

Hugh Redmond, former Shanghai businessman, was sentenced in September of 1954 in Shanghai to life imprisonment. He was caught with other Americans in Shanghai when the Communists seized the big port in 1949.

Sentenced To Life

John Downey was sentenced to life, and Richard Fecteau to 20 years in Peiping in November of 1954.

The mothers did not get to see Chou. They met with Mrs. Li Teh-chuan, health minister and president of the Chinese Red Cross, and presented a joint letter.

Chou's reply was relayed through Chi Feng, assistant director of international relations for the Chinese Red Cross. Chi visited the mothers at the Peiping hotel where they have been staying.

"The Premier fully understands the feelings behind your appeal," Chi said, "but your sons have violated Chinese laws and must be dealt with accordingly."

Peiping radio said Chi explained to them the Chinese government's policy of leniency toward those who behave well while serving their terms.

May Have Leniency

"As minister Li Teh-chuan has already told them," the radio said, "any criminal who so behaves may have the opportunity of leniency. This applies also to their sons."

There is no way of telling what this means, since Red China has used clemency in the past to further its foreign policy.

Red China opened private negotiations with the United States in Geneva Aug. 1, 1955, by announcing the release of 11 U.S. airmen sentenced at the same time as Downey and Fecteau. These 11 were given credit for good behavior, but none had such long sentences as Downey and Fecteau. They had been under sentence less than a year but had been imprisoned for more than two years. Their sentences ranged from 10 years down to 4.

Emotionally Upset Person Should Not Drive A Car

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (AP)—If you are emotionally upset, an American Medical Assn. committee said today, you shouldn't drive an automobile.

This was one of several warnings to drivers made by the AMA committee on medical aspects of automobile injuries and deaths, in cooperation with the center for safety education, New York University.

The findings are contained in a new AMA pamphlet, "Are you fit to drive?" The pamphlet has been distributed through physicians' offices.

Some other things that make a dangerous driver:

Some drivers feel the other fellow is always wrong; some are aggressive and intolerant. A sleepy driver is as much a hazard as a drinking one.

Court Mandate Ends Wildcat Train Walkout

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Rebelling conductors pulled a wildcat strike against the New York Central today, stalling mainline rail operations along a key stretch of track. A federal court mandate ended the walkout after eight hours and service gradually returned to normal.

In court, the Central asked 2½ million dollars in damages from the striking Independent Order of Railway Conductors. Layoffs provoked the walkout, which had been temporarily forestalled eight days ago.

Ten of the railroads' major trains were stranded by a strike bottleneck concentrated between Buffalo and Albany, but overlapping that division somewhat. One of them was the 20th Century Limited, one of the nation's most famous trains.

The Century was held up more than 5½ hours in Albany as 150 passengers fumed. Other name trains stranded included the Montreal Limited, the Wolverine, the Commodore Vanderbilt, the Ohio State Limited and the Pacemaker, all bound for New York City.

Some trains out of Grand Central Terminal here were canceled but commuter service was not affected.

Among those caught aboard the Century was boxer Sugar Ray Robinson. He was en route back from Chicago after signing for a March 25 title fight with middleweight champion Carmen Basilio.

Also aboard the Century were 75 Italians on their way to New York to catch the liner Vulcanica, bound for their homeland. They missed their boat but the railroad arranged to move them by bus to Boston in time to catch the ship when she calls there tomorrow.

The strike was called by Val Simons, general chairman of Division 54 of the conductors' union. Originally planned for Jan. 16, it had been called off just before that deadline on orders from national union officials in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The same national officers promptly labeled today's strike unauthorized but the strikers defied their orders to return to work. They proclaimed that they were taking orders from Simons and no one else.

Nixon Meets Zarubin To Voice Ideas

U.S. Vice President Stresses Importance Of Eisenhower Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin was reported authoritatively today to have proposed to Vice President Nixon that Congress exchange delegations with Russia's Supreme Soviet.

At a 40-minute conference in his capital office, Nixon was said in turn to have urged on the departing diplomat the high importance of President Eisenhower's proposal for peaceful advances into outer space.

Although he obviously could commit no one, Nixon was represented as having received with preliminary approval Zarubin's suggestion that a forthcoming agreement for the exchange of persons between the two countries be broadened to include members of Congress and their Soviet counterparts.

Polite Hearing

There was no indication that Zarubin did more than give a polite hearing to Nixon's suggestion that the Soviets move towards negotiation in connection with Eisenhower's space suggestion.

Eisenhower proposed in his Jan. 12 letter to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin that the United States and the Soviet Union agree that outer space shall be used only for peaceful purposes.

Eisenhower said the world faces the momentous choice of whether it will continue to develop missiles for space warfare or reserve that area for peace.

When today's unprecedented conference broke up, neither Nixon nor Zarubin mentioned in talking to reporters the most important subjects they were reported to have discussed.

Zarubin, returning to Moscow where he is expected to become deputy foreign minister, did not ask for a meeting with Eisenhower because he said he knew the President was busy. Instead, he sought the appointment with Nixon and asked the latter to convey his good wishes to the President.

Zarubin said he had discussed with Nixon — through interpreters — "a number of questions concerning the establishment and development of contacts between our two countries."

Would Be Useful

"The conclusion of both of us," he said, "is that such contacts would be of extreme usefulness and that it is necessary to create conditions for the better learning of both our people about the other." Zarubin's proposal for an exchange of Congress and Supreme Soviet members was understood to involve more than just a visit.

As one official described it, the exchange visitors would sit in on the sessions of the other country's legislature to watch its operations at close hand.

Nixon, who first achieved political prominence as a fighter against Communist influences in the United States, agreed with Zarubin that their talk had been "useful."

As they met, the State Department disclosed it had taken what it called a "diplomatic initiative" to encourage the start of diplomatic talks in advance of a possible summit meeting.

Negro Leader Fined By Court

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 24 (AP)—A Negro leader was convicted today of disorderly conduct for refusing to give up his seat beside a white woman in a taxi-cab last Sunday.

Attorneys for the Rev. Moses Pleasure, executive secretary of the Montgomery Improvement Assn., filed notice of appeal to Circuit Court.

Records Court Judge Eugene D. Loe fined Pleasure $50 and costs on the charge brought by the taxi driver, Robert O. Mobley, who said he ordered Pleasure to vacate the seat.

Pleasure sat beside a white woman on the front seat after arriving on an airline flight from Atlanta. Rear seats on the taxi were filled at the time.

Jesus loves me
...this I know

I still remember the happy words, and the easy tune.
It was the first hymn I ever learned.
More important, I remember the certainty with which I sang "This I know!"
That was faith... My faith, firm... undoubting.
Have I outgrown that faith? No! But I have grown out from it. The ever-widening circle of experience has been drawing me away from the Center of life.
And when I heard little Janey singing her happy hymn just as I once sang it... I knew it was time to get back to the Real, the Unchanging.
And I've found that the Church is the one place in all this world where a man's heart—free from dread, fear, uncertainty—can sing "THIS I KNOW!"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Skepticism Over Budget Estimates

Many members of Congress, Republicans and Democrats alike, say they're skeptical about the surplus of $466 million estimated in the Budget for next fiscal year. That is, they're skeptical about it except for some tax increase, which the Budget does not visualize.

The skeptics can point to what happened to the surplus of $1.813 million for the current fiscal year estimated in the Budget submitted a year ago. Largely as a result of (1) the frightening Russian advances in new methods of warfare and (2) a slackening of U. S. business activity, that estimated surplus has now given way to an estimated deficit of $398 million for this year.

This net shift of over $2 billion when the 1958 fiscal year had only six more months to run is due to both lower estimated revenues and higher estimated expenditures, to wit:

In estimating a small surplus for next fiscal year to replace the small estimated deficit this year, the present Budget allows for $1.1 billion more in expenditures in 1958-59. This would be more than counterbalanced by $2.0 billion more in receipts then, including a $1.3 billion increase from individual income taxes.

Inasmuch as tax rates would not be raised, the estimated $2.0 billion more in receipts derives, the President said in his budget message, from "confidence that the expansion of our economy will soon be resumed."

These Days

The Mallory Case

Andrew J. Mallory, a rapist, was held by the Washington police seven and one-half hours before he was arraigned. It took the Washington, D. C. police that long to gather the data, to collect the evidence, to check alibis, etc., etc.

Mallory's counsel went into the Supreme Court on appeal and the Supreme Court decided that the police had held him too long before arraignment—seven and one-half hours. Mallory did not deny that he was a rapist. As a matter of fact, he had been convicted in a court of law at a fair trial and condemned to death. The issue was not the nature of the crime or the crime itself. It was simply how long may the police hold an arrested person to question him and to gather evidence when a crime has actually been committed. On that issue the United States Supreme Court freed Mallory on the sole ground that he had been held too long.

Police officers throughout the country were chagrined at this decision because it handicaps them in handling murder, kidnapping and other criminal cases. If they cannot immediately gather the evidence they must let the culprit go.

Suppose a murder is committed at 1 a. m. The police are notified that a body is on the sidewalk at 2 a. m. They arrive on the scene. There is a fingerprint which is Telefaxed to the FBI for identification. At 2:30 a. m. the owner of the fingerprint is identified. By 3:30 a. m. the alleged murderer is brought in. He has an alibi; it needs to be checked. The hours of questioning, of denial, of added evidence coming in, of confrontation with facts pass. How many hours? Some data cannot be gathered during the night. Morning comes. A new start is made in a dozen directions. It is found, for instance, that the culprit, who denied he ever saw the victim, had been her constant companion for a year. In the end, forth comes a sordid story of love offered and not accepted, of unrequited passion, of gifts accepted but its giver ridiculed, of annoyance and anger and foul words hurled at each other. Finally, the over two-timing and the murder.

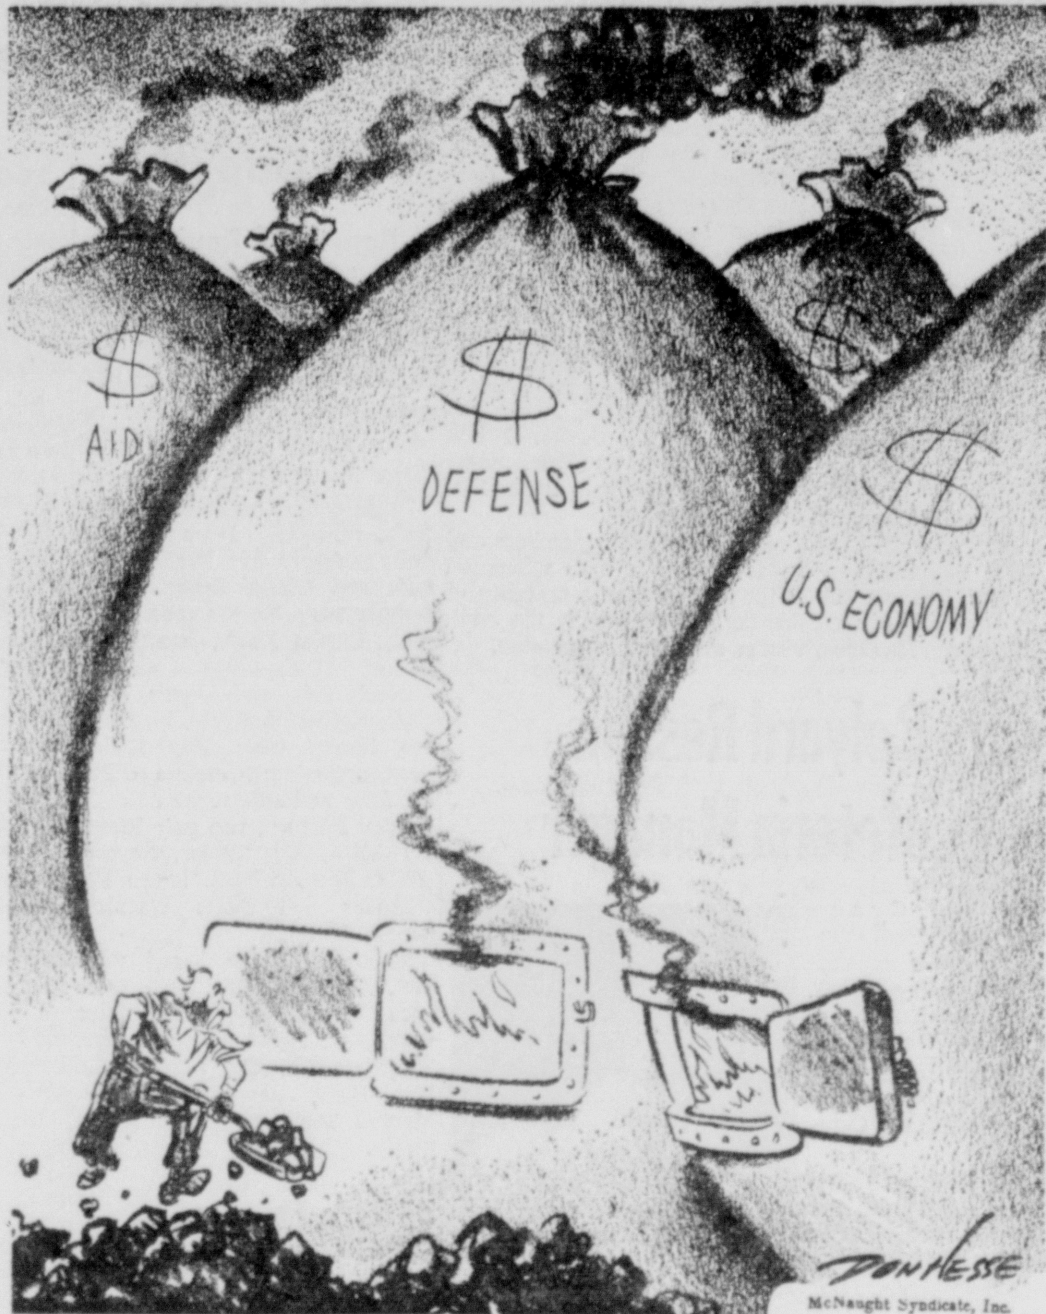

Are the police to be handicapped by requiring them to accomplish all this in 15 minutes or 1 hour or 15 hours? How long? Senator John Marshall Butler of Maryland last July had introduced a bill for the District of Columbia giving the police a maximum of 12 hours before arraignment. That is a reasonable period.

Under the various protections of the Constitution, the Supreme Court let the rapist go free. But the people are not free from the fear of sex crimes which are on the constant increase. Police work grows increasingly more difficult because of modern means of transportation, to take one facility. A murderer with a well-arranged formula can be in Cairo or Rio by airplane before the police may even be notified that a crime has been committed.

Modern methods of crime detection have not offset modern means of evasion. The head of a narcotics syndicate may be a well-dressed, well-housed, Cadillac-transported gentleman who contributes to all the local charities and is a faithful member of his church. The distance between him and the junkie is greater than the geographic distance between him and the dope market in Tientsin, China. Pushers are caught; users are caught. But this fellow does not associate with such vulgarians. He is a soft-spoken contributor on a local scale to one or both major political parties and probably has a Congressman or two in his pocket, having sponsored such lawyers politically and put up the cash for their careers. He is a very smart man.

Law enforcement grows more difficult as crime becomes better organized. Big crime is now international in its connections; small crime is growing younger and younger. The law is inadequate in some respects; it certainly makes crime detection in advance of commission practically impossible. The do-gooders encourage criminal acts, particularly sex crimes, by their psychiatric and social ideas. Does it do a young lady, who has been mauled, raped and left to die in the woods, any benefit to recognize that the uncontrolled beast who did the act suffered from an uncontrollable compulsion? Does it do her heart-broken parents any good? Does it do the community any good?

Political Snipes At Foreign Policy Continue

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON. — This is a world of paradoxes — especially the world of politics. For weeks and weeks now, since the "Sputnik" started to circle the earth, the Democrats inside and outside of Congress have been castigating the Eisenhower Administration for neglect of defense, for failing to have "bold and imaginative ideas" in foreign policy and for failing to exercise "leadership."

Now when Sherman Adams, assistant to the President, makes a lively speech of rebuttal, he is charged with being "partisan," and one leading spokesman for the opposition calls his remarks "mean and cheap."

One wonders what sort of "liberalism" prevails today when the "other side" isn't even supposed to answer back.

For two months now the Democratic partisans have had the field all to themselves. They have demanded the resignation of various Cabinet officers. They have been calling on President Eisenhower to "resign." Their disregard of courtesy to the President himself has gone beyond the usual limits of partisanship.

In politics a lie repeated without any denial comes to be accepted as truth. There have been so many charges of neglect on the missile issue flung at the Administration that it was inevitable an indignant reply would be made. The mystery is why some of the Republicans in Congress haven't made it before this — they apparently are not strong in tactics of counteroffense.

So it remained for Sherman Adams to enter the lists. And he did quite a job in his Minneapolis speech. He didn't step down to the level of political combat hailed so exultingly by the Democratic partisans when Harry Truman turns loose one of his "give 'em hell" speeches. But he did an effective job nevertheless as he said:

"Nowadays, back in Washington, hardly a day goes by but that some armchair strategist intones doom for America. Nor hardly a day goes by but that some political soothsayer first proclaims, then bemoans, American weakness. Disaster is too mild a word to describe our pitiful plight.

"There is an interesting aspect to this. In large measure this professional shuddering comes from those whose attitude about defense has been dictated by political expediency. . . .

"But even so, they ought to know better than to keep on politicking with national defense. As a matter of fact, they ought to be called strictly to account by the American people for using this subject as party glue.

"I'll say simply this: We Republicans greet the opposition on this battlefield with as much anticipation as, on any other they can conjure up. In such a contest, we have abundant ammunition.

"We do not need to bring up the military catastrophe of Pearl Harbor nor the scientific catastrophe of losing our atomic secrets. Nor do we need to dwell on policies that led to the Red invasion of Korea, nor the plight of our defenses when the invasion began, nor the handcuffs put upon our conduct of that war. We need not even refer to the tragic loss of China, nor the surrender of positions of freedom throughout the world. We can also ignore at the moment the wasteful and crippling defense planning between World War II and the following war they could not end. Right now, checking

Studies Show Genetic Pattern Of Diabetes

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

From 30 to 40 per cent of persons with diabetes have a family history of the disease. We can expect this ratio to increase in the future, now that more and more diabetics are living a normal life span. These men and women will have more children, which in turn means more diabetics.

The genetic pattern of this malady is well established. All the offspring will develop it when both parents are afflicted. If one parent has the disease and the other is a carrier, there is a 50-50 chance the children will be affected. When both parents are carriers, but not diabetics, the chance is one in four. Should a diabetic marry a person who is not a carrier, all their youngsters will be carriers. They will not develop diabetes but will pass on the trait to their progeny.

Does diabetes burn itself out in succeeding generations? The late

Dr. Roland T. Woodyat studied the incidence of the condition in 106 families in which it had occurred in two or more generations. In the majority, diabetes appeared 20 years earlier in the children than in the parents.

Thus, if Mr. Jones developed it at age 60, some of his sons and daughters became diabetic at 40, and his grandchildren at 20. If the latter reproduced, their infants died at birth from diabetes.

The 20 year period observed by Woodyat is an approximation. When it works in reverse, there may be a longer time lag. A child of 10, for example, may develop diabetes. His parents, aged 30, may not have the disease, so the youngster has no family history of diabetes. The situation changes, however, when — four or five years later — diabetes is discovered in the father or mother.

Another study was done on 500 diabetic patients who had one or more diabetic relatives. The children in this group who developed the disease were of the same sex as the patient. Hereditary disorders are best studied in identical twins. There are instances in which diabetes attacked both, often simultaneously.

Tougher Penalties Lessen Narcotics Pushing In Pennsylvania And Ohio

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — "The State of Ohio is going to put me out of business," remarked the grand old man of narcotics enforcement, Commissioner Harry Anslinger, the other day.

Actually Anslinger didn't look as if he was much worried about his job.

"The State of Ohio has adopted a 20-year minimum penalty for anyone selling narcotics," Anslinger went on to explain, "and narcotics addiction has almost stopped in Ohio. If we could get other states to be equally tough I wouldn't have anything to worry about."

Anslinger paid tribute to former Gov. Frank Lausche, now Senator, and to Gov. C. William O'Neill, former Attorney General under Lausche, who both cracked down vigorously on narcotics.

Commissioner Anslinger, who has held high office about as long as any public servant in Washington, beginning with the Hoover administration in 1930, has a chart which should make some states think twice about law enforcement.

The chart shows that New York City has 43 per cent of all the narcotics addicts in the entire United States. Illinois ranks second with 16 per cent, practically all of them in Chicago. California is third with 11 per cent; Michigan fourth with 6 per cent of the addicts.

"When the addicts started going from Ohio into Pennsylvania," Commissioner Anslinger said, back only a year is enough."

Then Mr. Adams reviewed how the Democrats, in control of both houses of Congress, cut military appropriations last year, and he pointed to the failure of the Democrats prior to 1952 to "start spending even as little as a million dollars on long-range ballistic missiles."

On the very afternoon before the night when the various political speeches by the Republicans were being delivered last Monday, statements were coming from the Democratic National Committee's advisory council belittling American foreign policy and lambasting the Administration on defense matters.

Is all this "politicking" good for the country? Of course not. On the radio every night the Communists make wide use of the sniping comments about the Administration's foreign policy uttered by Democrats and other critics. But in a democracy, where free speech and a free press are the rule, all things are discussed and hence the Republicans have the right of reply just as the Democrats have the right of attack.

There's one consolation for the Republicans. Harry Truman says that General Eisenhower was always pretty good prior to 1952 when he—the former President—could tell like what to do. This seems to nullify all the nasty things the critics have been saying about Ike's willingness to let Stalin's armies occupy Eastern Europe and take over Berlin and all the alleged mistakes he made in agreeing with the other chiefs of staff that Korea was not a defense requirement of prime necessity to the United States. Evidently these were not his own ideas at all but merely President Truman's orders? That clears the air—at least until the next salvo comes from the man from Missouri.

No. This product does a good job, and should prove especially helpful for persons who wear dentures. Have you tried hamburgers?

RHEUMATISM

C. P. writes: What is the cause of muscular rheumatism?

REPLY

Strain, infection, and exposure to cold are common starters.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

"Governor Leader put through a law with a tough penalty for pushers. After that they stayed out of Pennsylvania. They have gone up to Detroit and Chicago instead."

Commissioner Anslinger hopes that the people of Michigan and Illinois will now wake up.

Note — A "pusher" is one who sells or pushes narcotics onto an addict. They are chiefly responsible for addiction.

Brooklyn Dodgers vs. Slums

Congressmen investigating slum clearance and urban renewal were flabbergasted when they listened to the testimony of their ex-colleague from California, Norris Poulson, now Mayor of Los Angeles. They couldn't believe their ears.

While serving in the House of Representatives, Poulson had consistently supported the real estate lobby. He voted against every slum clearance bill that came before Congress. Furthermore, he was elected Mayor of Los Angeles in a vigorous battle over slum clearance.

Los Angeles' then Mayor Fletcher Bowron had signed a housing contract with the Federal Government and cleared out some of the Negro shacks and Mexican tenements that contrast with the swimming pools of movie stars and the flower-decked campuses of California universities. Congressman Poulson battled against this, and won.

Afterward he used the vacant area which had been cleared by Mayor Bowron to entice the Brooklyn Dodgers to come to Los Angeles and use the land for a ball park.

But testifying before a Congressional committee the other day, Mayor Poulson came out emphatically for slum clearance and urban renewal.

"Mr. Mayor, your views are very interesting," commented Congressman Albert Rains of Alabama, "but they are somewhat different from those you espoused while you were in Congress. What caused you to change your mind?"

"Mr. Chairman," said Poulson, squirming a bit, "I want to confess that my views have undergone a considerable change since I served here in the House. I am now the mayor of the third largest city in the nation, and the responsibilities of my job have given me a new outlook, so that I can appreciate the position of those on both sides of this housing question. Yes, the intervening years have changed my thinking on a number of issues, including public housing."

"Well, I can hardly believe my ears in the light of the way you used to vote here in the House," replied Rains, "but in my judgment the change in you has been all for the good."

Ike's Naive

Eisenhower's budget cutback on slum clearance and urban renewal is going to have rough sledding in Congress. Many big-city mayors, whether Democrat or Republican, share Mayor Poulson's view. They favor a 10-year program of between $3.5 billion and $5 billion of federal help to wipe out slums. They argue that if the teamsters, truckers and the oil-gasoline companies could put across a $18-billion highway program, 12 mayors of American cities should get at least one-third of that for better housing.

They point out that Eisenhower's proposal to let the states assume the responsibility for slum clearance is naive. Eisenhower apparently doesn't realize, they say, that state legislatures are controlled by rural delegates with no interest in big-city problems.

Merry-Go-Round

Mayor Wagner of New York is so surrounded by secretaries that he won't even take telephone calls from the Senate of the United States. . . . The Movers Conference of America horned in on Washington's tribute to one of its grand old men, Arthur Clarendon Smith, whose motto is "don't make a move — without calling Smith."

Smith is one of the most dyed-in-the-wool Democrats in the Nation's Capital but many Republicans turned out to pay him homage, including lovely Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States. . . . The Movers Conference of America wanted to make it clear that the total annual business for all moving companies in the United States in '58 will approximate one billion dollars. One reason is the new multibillion-dollar highway program being put across by the administration. Up in New York a prominent railroad Brotherhood leader was lunching with A. E. Perlman, President of the New York Central, who bemoaned the slump in rail revenues. "What has your friend Eisenhower done for the railroad industry?" asked the Brotherhood leader. "He put across a tremendous highway bill for the truckers but what has he done for you?" Perlman came to Washington shortly thereafter to ask for remedial railroad legislation.

Whose World?

By Brother Barnabas

The real artist paints the thing as he sees it. If there is beauty and truth in his soul his picture will reflect it.

A bewildered lady looked at Turner's sunsets. "But, Mr. Turner, I never see anything like this in a real sunset!"

The painter answered, "No Madam? Don't you wish you did?"

As in sunsets, so in all Nature we see only what we are capable of seeing—beauty in Reynolds's "Age of Innocence"; Inness's "The Approaching Storm"; "Portrait of an Old Lady" by Rembrandt, who has been called the painter of the soul.

"Earth is crammed with heaven. And only he who sees takes off his shoes—"

The rest sit round it and pluck blackberries."

God In Everything

So the devout see God in every thing, the profane ask what on earth is God doing? The atheist says there is no God.

Some say he is "the man upstairs." Others, that he is an "algebraic X"—the unknown God of whom Paul declared: "In him we live and move and have our being." (Acts 17:28).

It requires no prophet to tell the caliber of a man if you know the kind of God he believes in. If he believes in no God, better lock your door.

A low estimate of God and a low estimate of man go hand in hand. God has been defamed, derided, blasphemed, as well as worshipped.

God's integrity has been called in question. Why didn't he make a good world when he was at it?

"I would have made health contagious, rather than disease," accused a celebrated agnostic. At the same time he knocked the crutch of faith from under an old woman who leaned heavily upon it for support.

Better World?

In the Creation story God saw everything he had made and pronounced it "very good." Ever since, science and art have been trying to make a better world, but in every instance they have either blundered or found out what was in the mind of God from the beginning.

Some day we hope the militarists will wake up and discover that it is "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit," says the Lord of hosts" (Zechariah 4:6). Then, "Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more" (Isaiah 2:4).

Voltaire, the French philosopher, wit and cynic was shocked by the Lisbon earthquake of 1755, when 15,000 persons were crushed, burned or drowned in a few hours.

He did not accept the prevailing philosophy of Europe up to that time, that "All is for the best in this, the best of all possible worlds."

"If this is the best of all possible worlds."

"If this is the best of all possible worlds, whatever must the others be like?"

I can imagine what some others would be like.

A textbook used in our American college defines a human being as "an ingenious assembly of portable plumbing." Should that doctrine become universal, our world would be made up of automatic washing machines pushing one another around.

Another wiseacre said: "Man is a seeker after the greatest degree of comfort for the least necessary expenditure of effort."

A world with no possibility of earthquake, pestilence, disease or pain would be a very drab place.

The law of gravity would be repealed and levitation substituted for it.

Then the world would become one horrible vacuum. Everybody would go back to the dust whence he sprang. You would attempt to love your wife and you would embrace her shadow. Rain would fall upward. You would plant your crops in the sky.

And if there were no pain, how would you ever know you were sick? If there were no sin or death in the world Christ would come down from the Cross.

Oversimplification is not the answer to the Lisbon earthquake.

Two men were riding on a train in New York. Looking out of the window they saw a beautiful sunset. A stranger opposite barged in front of the speaker and said: "You call that magnificent. It's nothing to what we have in California."

"Well, my friend," responded the gentleman somewhat nettled, "we are not to blame for that. God Almighty gets up our sunsets? Who manages yours? It really is God's world, says."

Many Problems Still Plague Legislature

West Virginians Face Tax Boosts

By HERB LITTLE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 24 — The Legislature adjourned for the weekend today, seemingly no closer to solutions of road and school problems than it was when the 30-day session began 17 days ago.

The American legion has closed the second floor of their home to the public and remodeling is now underway to convert it to office space for the United States government. The first floor will remain in use as a cocktail lounge and dance floor. The basement floor is used as a recreation center for veterans. The floor which has been closed had formerly been used as a meeting room for the Legion as well as many public groups. Many dinners were held here due to the fact that it was the largest room available in town for such affairs.

The G. C. Murphy Company will begin soon to remodel and to change the front of the store. Two of the present doorways will be closed leaving three entrances. A complete rearrangement of the interior has been planned according to Robert Sachman, manager. The new front will not be for display services but will be of the type to give an unobstructed view of the interior of the building.

Several new quick check-out stations will be added to the number already operating permitting customers to make selections of merchandise, carry it to the station to be wrapped and paid for. This will increase the speed with which purchases may be made.

Next door to Murphys, the Shannon Shoe Store, one of the oldest business establishments in Frostburg will get a new front. The lobby of the Lyric Theatre will be remodeled and occupied by a local business firm. When the work on these buildings is completed it will mark the completion of remodeling nearly every business place in the area between the Fidelity Bank and the post office.

LaSalle Edges Allegany, 40-37; Fort Hill Loses, 72-67

Rick Winfield Basket Turns Tide In Game

Shook Fails To Get Goal As Explorers Take 13th In Row

By TED TROXELL

LaSalle High's Explorers preserved their winning streak in dramatic fashion last night at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, edging out a scrappy, determined Allegany quint, 40-37, before an enthusiastic crowd of approximately 1,000 fans.

For the Explorers, who appeared less relaxed than when they convincingly defeated Fort Hill Tuesday night, 80-52, it was victory No. 13 without a loss. Allegany's record now stands at 6-5, two of the Campers' losses coming in city play.

LaSalle broke out on top quickly, piling up an 8-1 lead in the first five minutes of play. Rick Garlitz started his mates rolling when he drove through a maze of Allegany defenders for a lay-up.

Denny Knippenberg converted a foul to make it 2-1, but "Chaz" Imes, Rick Winfield, and Van Parsons scored successive field goals to give the Explorers the seven-point advantage.

Score 10 Straight

The Allegany five then reeled off 10 consecutive points before the Explorers could locate the target again. Following a Camper timeout with 1:54 remaining in the first period, Gary Shook tossed in a pair of free throws, Jack Cook hit on a turn-and-jump shot, and Knippenberg cut the cords with a one-bander to close the gap to 8-7 as the quarter came to a close.

The Campers clicked off four more points before the rattled Explorers regained their composure. Glenn Davis and Knippenberg came through with two-pointers before Rick Garlitz broke LaSalle's point famine with a foul conversion.

Shook countered with a successful foul attempt, then Winfield connected on a sweeping hook shot and Garlitz fired in a set to put the lead back into the hands of the Explorers. Shook tied it up with a free throw, 13-13, but Parsons took an assist from Imes under the basket to give LaSalle a lead it held until midway in the exciting final period. The half ended with LaSalle in front by five points, 22-17.

Allegany wasted little time in hacking away at the Explorer lead in the fourth period. Davis and Imes exchanged baskets, and the scoreboard read 36-26, whereupon the Campers rallied with a spurt of 11 consecutive points.

The Campers experienced a terrible night from the floor, but compensated for this deficiency by staging an excellent performance from the foul circle.

Shook caged a pair of foul attempts on his first trip to the line in the fourth period, then came back with another one moments later to cut the margin to 36-29. Knippenberg and Cook dumped in two free throws apiece and Allegany was back in the game, trailing by a mere three points, 36-33.

Cook drove in for a layup to slice the difference to 36-35, and Knippenberg, gaining possession of the ball near midcourt, started driving for the basket, hesitated momentarily, then shot a one-bander that swished through, giving Allegany a one-point, 37-36 lead with four minutes left in the contest.

Knippenberg was fouled in the act of shooting, but missed the try for the "point after."

As it turned out, Knippenberg's field goal was to be the last for the Camper aggregation. Winfield came through with a bucket from close to put the Explorers back in the lead, 38-37. Free throws by Jack Bahen and Garlitz closed out the scoring.

The Campers fired 63 times from the field, with only 10 of the attempts finding the mark for an extremely poor .159 percentage, but hit on nearly 75 per cent of their fouls, missing only five of 22. The winning LaSalle quint had a 298 mark, tallying on 17 of 57 cracks at the basket.

Winfield was the leading scorer for both teams, collecting 13 tallies, while Parsons and Knippenberg, who played an excellent defensive game, each scored 11. Shook, Allegany's leading point maker, was held scoreless from the floor, but shined in nine free tosses in 10 attempts. Lineups:

"Too Much Mustard"

McElwee To W.V.U.?

By C. V. BURNS

THE many friends of John Richard Vernall Jr., will be sorry to learn that the former Allegany High School and Fairmont State College athlete is hospitalized at Baltimore with what is termed by doctors as a rare disease.

A benefit basketball game will be held for him tonight at Milford Mill High School near Pimlico, where he had been coaching for the past three years until he became ill in December.

John managed to return to Cumberland to visit his parents on Avirett Avenue during the Christmas season but is back in the Church Home and Hospital at the present time.

Doctors diagnose the ailment as a collapse of the muscles. At times Johnny needs help to get out of bed and he has no strength in his arms.

Vernall will be remembered as a football and basketball star at Campobello. He also excelled in both sports with the Falcons at Fairmont. During his three years at Milford Mill High he turned out winning basketball and soccer teams.

Vernall will be remembered as an athlete who won the annual K. of C. Sportsmanship Award in 1949 at St. Mary's Hall when 616 persons attended and Frank Leahy of Notre Dame was the guest speaker. The same year he won the 29th annual Charles Babst Award at Allegany High School commencement exercises.

CUMBERLAND had the highest percentage of winning favorites among Maryland's minor race tracks last year.

Thirty-five first choices clicked at Fairgo during the 1957 twelve-day meeting for a percentage of 56.4. The all-time high for the local half miler is 48 per cent for 10 days in 1947.

Anthony Russo, of Baltimore, was the leading rider on the Maryland minors last year with 36 winners. Willie Clark, top rider at Fairgo, was second with 47 and Joe Servis third with 41.

E. Leslie Miller, who scored with Volia Reigh, Belle's baby, Franc and Cloated Cream and had a 4-3-1-7 record here, led the 151 trainers with a total of 16 winners on the state circuit.

LONACONING'S Police Commissioner Robert M. "Lefty" Grove yesterday informed Cumberland Police Commissioner William Vincent Keegan that he is hopeful of bringing Frank "Warhorse" Muster, one-time south-paw pitching ace of the Georges.

Herb Wright Named Colts Director Of Public Relations

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24.—The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League moved Herb Wright out of the ticket office today and out front as public relations director.

Wright has been ticket manager for the Colts for seven years, including one in the defunct All-American Conference. A native Baltimorean, Wright succeeds John Steadman who resigned to become sports editor of the Baltimore News-Post.

Harry Holmes of Philadelphia will leave Bucknell University to take Wright's job. Holmes has been publicity director at Bucknell for two years. He formerly was an assistant in public relations with the old Philadelphia Athletics of the American Baseball League.

Battlers Defeat Davis And Elkins

PHILIPPI, W. Va., Jan. 24.—Charley Huggins threw in 21 points to pace Alderson - Broadbent to a 75-59 basketball victory over Davis & Elkins tonight in a State Conference competition.

The Battlers were ahead most of the way in notching their sixth triumph in 16 league games. They held a 41-34 halftime bulge. Dick Niblett's 15 tallies were dropped for the D & E Senators who dropped their 11th game in 13 conference outings.

Indians Sign Up

CLEVELAND, Jan. 24.—Outfielder Rocky Colavito, infielder Joe Altobelli and relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm today signed their 1958 Cleveland Indians contracts.

Several weeks ago the three expressed dissatisfaction with the terms offered them, but all apparently resolved their disputes with General Manager Frank Lane.

No Gophers Off Don

MILWAUKEE.—Don McMahon, pitching 47 relief innings for the world champion Milwaukee Braves last season, failed to yield a home run. He gave up 33 hits and eight earned runs. He struck out 46 and had a 1.53 earned run record.

Creek section, to the Dapper Dan

Back in the days when Muster was baffling 'em with his portside offerings the slogan of Lonaconing baseball fans was "Too Much Mustard."

THIS is the twelfth consecutive year for the Catholic Youth Basketball League. St. Michael's, Frostburg, has won five championships, SS. Peter & Paul, four and St. Patrick's, two. St. Mary's looks like the hottest ball club this season.

THE NAME of Richard "Dick" McElwee, one-time Romney High School, and now head coach at Charleston (W. Va.) High, is being bandied about as West Virginia University goes on the prowl for a backfield coach to replace Bob Snyder.

McElwee says he's happy at Charleston but is not beyond discussing any new job that would better his income and add to the comforts of his family.

"I certainly would appreciate an offer from West Virginia," Dick said the other day.

McElwee's salary at Charleston runs around $5,500. In addition to this, he has part-time employment which adds another couple of thousand.

"I'm a West Virginia man," McElwee said, "and I've always had a desire to go back there. But I haven't been offered anything yet."

JOE GARAGIOLA, introducing Art Rooney at the Dapper Dan Dinner in Pittsburgh the other day, said:

"This guy is so well liked that if he told you to go to Hades, you'd look forward to the trip."

Ken Venturi Ties Demaret

Both Post 133s At Palm Springs

PALEM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 24.—Young Ken Venturi shot a spectacular 8-under-par 63 and Jimmy Demaret a 65 to tie for the lead at the midway mark of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament today.

The fireworks left Demaret, 45-year-old three-time winner of the event, and San Francisco's Venturi with 36-hole scores of 133.

A year ago Demaret, Venturi, and Mike Souchak wound up the 72-hole tournament in a tie. Demaret, the old master from Klamath Lake, N.Y., defeated the youngsters in an 18-hole playoff.

Two strokes back of the co-leaders tonight were Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., and Dave Marr, Rumson, N.J., with totals of 135. Harney shot a 66 today, Marr a 70.

Marr and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., led in the first round with a pair of 65s. Hawkins dropped back with a 72 for 137. Demaret had a first round 68. The 26-year-old Venturi led off with a 70 yesterday.

Three players were tied at 136—Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill.; Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, and Howie Johnson of Akron, Ohio.

The tournament is being held at the Thunderbird Country Club, which has par of 36-35-71.

Included in a group of seven knotted at 138 were U. S. Open champion Dick Mayer, Newport Beach, Calif., and two former U. S. Open champions, Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., and Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill.

MARTINSBURG, Jan. 24.—Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs converted thirty of 39 foul shots tonight and defeated Fort Hill High School's Sentinels of Cumberland by the score of 72-67 in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League basketball contest.

Fort Hill's defeat enabled Frederick's Cadets to take a full game lead in the six-school circuit. The victory gave Coach George Whitaker's aggregation third place with a 3-3 record.

The Sentinels got off to a good start but Martinsburg came from behind to take a 21-19 lead as the quarter ended. At halftime the Bulldogs held a 15-point advantage, at 40-37 but the Sentinels trailed by only five at the conclusion of the third period, 51-46.

Fort Hill outscored the home team 25 to 21 from the field but that 30-39 performance by the Bulldogs at the foul line was the deciding factor. The Sentinels had 32 chances at the charity line and made good on 17.

Six players, three on each team, exited on personal fouls. Martinsburg lost its three Dougs, namely, Tucker, Custer and Brown while Charles Robinson, Jerry Meeks and Donnie Lewis were the Fort Hill players ejected.

Custer was Martinsburg's high scorer with 17 points, including 7-7 at the free throw line. The game's high point man, however, was DeWarren "Junior" O'Neal, of Fort Hill who hit for 10 goals, 8 out of 10 at the foul line and 28 tallies. Robinson was runner-up with 18 markers. Lineups:

Watson Is Leader In Panama Open

PANAMA, Jan. 24.—Bob Watson, veteran pro from Ardley-on-Hudson, N.Y., clipped six strokes off par today to take the lead in the $10,000 Panama Open Golf Tournament with a 36-hole total of 134.

Watson's 35-31-66 over the par 36-36-72 Panama Country Club boosted him into a one-stroke lead over Ed (Porky) Oliver, Canton, Mass., and Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., who were at 135 after 63s in today's round.

Oliver and Wall each shattered the nine-hole record for the course. Porky with a 30 on the front nine and Wall with a 30 coming in.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., shot a 67 for a 138 total and fourth place, and Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., and George Bayer, Cincinnati, followed in a fifth place tie at 139. Palmer, the first round leader with a 66, slumped to a 73 today while Bayer fired a 2-under-par 70.

Tech Quint Routs Cats

Golden Bears Rack Up 123-62 Victory

MONTGOMERY, W. Va., Jan. 24.—A West Virginia Tech jumped into a tie with West Virginia Wesleyan for the State Conference leadership tonight by overwhelming Potomac State 123-62 in basketball.

The Golden Bears, the nation's top collegiate scoring combine, pushed their point average up to 106 in winning their 12th straight league game. Idle Wesleyan and Tech each are 12-0 in conference competition.

Tech grabbed an early lead and was never headed. Dale Russell paced the attack with 20 points while Tom McFadden topped Potomac with 15. It was the Cata-mounts' sixth loss in 10 loop contests.

Brown Winner By TKO In 5th

Williams Suffers Badly Cut Eye

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Lightweight champion Joe Brown out-surprisedly stubborn Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams over the left eye and won a technical knockout in the fifth round of a non-title scrap tonight at Capitol Arena.

Brown weighed 137½, Williams 136½.

Ring physician John Kneipp ordered the fight stopped after 1:17 of the fateful round in a scheduled 10.

Williams, fighting only his second main event, was bleeding from the wound that Brown opened up in the fourth.

Brown, the 31-year-old world's champion, aimed at the eye in the fifth and worsened the cut with slashing blows from either side. Joe motioned constantly to Referee Ray Bowen, suggesting his rival's eye was too badly hurt to continue the bout. Bowen stepped in and ushered Sonny Boy to his own corner where the doctor decided the injury was too serious to allow further action.

St. Mary's Quint Hopes To Wrap Up First Half Title

St. Mary's Gaels will be striving to wrap up the first half title when they engage St. Michaels in a Catholic Youth Basketball League game at Frostburg Sunday at 2:30 o'clock.

Two games are scheduled for Monday night with Midland at St. Michael's and St. Patrick's at SS. Peter and Paul.

The first half ends Thursday night when SS. Peter & Paul plays St. Peter's here.

The second half race opens Sunday, February 2 with St. Michael's at St. Peter's, St. Patrick's at St. Joseph's and SS. Peter and Paul at St. Mary's.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—President Maurice Podoloff of the National Basketball Assn. today fined Vince Boryla of the New York Knicks $325 for "unbecoming action" in a game against Philadelphia here Jan. 12.

Podoloff also levied a $50 fine against Carl Braun, a player for the Knicks, and a $25 fine against Knick trainer Don Fredericks for their part in the general fracas.

Boryla was escorted from the Madison Square Garden court by special police after his outburst against referee Lou Eisenstein. The uproar followed a foul called against the Knicks by Eisenstein in the last second of regulation play. Philadelphia made good on the two free throws awarded and tied the score, then defeated the Knicks in overtime 115-110.

Legislators Will Support SRC Revision

County Projects Will Be Speeded

A conference on Allegany County's road problems ended yesterday afternoon with an apparent general agreement that State Senator Charles M. See and the six members of the County Delegation must support the revised 15-year road construction program of the State Roads Commission when enabling legislation is introduced in the General Assembly next month.

Attending yesterday's session at the Court House were County Commissioners James Orr and William A. Wilson, J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, Senator See; Delegates Lester B. Reed, Fred B. Driscoll, Noel Speir Cook, George R. Hughes Jr. and David J. Williams; Roland Thompson and Frank Dreyer, both engineers for the State Roads Commission; Edward Habeeb, J. L. Towler, Earl Warner and A. M. Knight, all representatives of the U. S. Route 40 Association.

The legislators expressed great interest in accelerating the construction of road improvements on the stretch of State Route 36 between Midland and Barton and getting the entire stretch of U. S. Route 40 from Cumberland east to the Washington County line.

The SRC engineers emphasized that these projects are included in the second period of the revised 15-year program for which legislative support will be sought next month. They would be undertaken the next four-to-five years.

When originally enacted in 1953, the then 12-year program called for expenditure of $568,000,000 to improve highways throughout the state. However, costs have been much greater than originally estimated and the program is now running about one-and-one-half years behind schedule.

For instance, ten Allegany County projects originally planned for the first four years of the program have not yet been undertaken. It is estimated that they will cost a total of $15,457,000, including construction, engineering and right-of-way costs.

Most of those attending the session yesterday agreed that the Midland-to-Barton road, estimated by the SRC to cost $2,129,000 for 4.8 miles of roadway, and the Route 40 improvements are more important than the $2,728,000 project calling for the addition of a fourth lane to U. S. Route 220 for 2.92 miles from the Celanese plant to Cumberland.

They said the McMullen Highway project is desirable but they believe the present road is much better than most of the other roads in Allegany County.

The upcoming period on the proposed revised 15-year road program includes some ten projects for U. S. Route 40 which will modernize the road through the entire stretch of Allegany County, from Washington County on the east to Garrett County on the west.

Oldtown Fire Company Plans Progressing

Plans for the organization of a volunteer fire company at Oldtown are progressing.

Ralph L. Rader has been named chairman of a committee which is getting the groundwork laid for the volunteer company. He said last night that a meeting, open to the public, has been tentatively scheduled for February 5 at the Oldtown Sportsman Club.

Business to be transacted will include an election of officers, nomination of a by-laws committee and also a committee named to draw up incorporation papers. On Thursday night residents of the community and members of the Parent Teachers Association met with officials of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Paul Haberlein, president of the association, suggested that a portable pump and tanker as well as 1 1/2 and 2 1/2 inch hose be purchased as basic equipment for the new company.

He pointed out that the community could get in business for $1,000. Mr. Rader, who is employed as a signal maintainer for the Western Maryland Railway Company, said last night that Fred Taylor of Oldtown was instrumental in getting plans started.

He contacted Mr. Haberlein and asked that a meeting be arranged, at which time the plans for a fire company be discussed.

Mr. Rader was named chairman of the committee about five months ago. He said the newly formed company would give protection to the Oldtown area as well as the Greenspring area. Others on the committee are Leroy Hartsock, Noah Carder, Paul Gurtler and Jesse Shippe.

David Williams Seeks Election To House Seat

Now Is Serving By Appointment

David J. Williams, 49, of Midland, yesterday announced his candidacy for the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket, subject to the May 29 primary.

Last October he was appointed a member of the Allegany County delegation by the Republican State Central Committee to fill the unexpired term of the late Samuel M. Berry of Westport. A native of Shaft, Mr. Williams is employed on the staff of the Tidewater-Hazelwood firms at Luke.

Previous to his present job he worked at the National Jet Company, LaVale, and on the staff of the Consolidated Engineering Company at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch. From 1939 to 1949 he worked in the filtration department at the Amcelle plant and operated a coal mine from 1949 until 1953.

In 1954 he was elected as a member of the Republican State Central Committee. In June 1956 he was appointed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin as a substitute trial magistrate.

He resigned both positions when he was appointed to the House of Delegates. Mr. Williams is a member of the Midland Methodist Church, Lonaconing Fire Company, Georges Creek Valley Lodge 126, AF & AM, Knights of Pythias, Improved Order of Red Men, Lonaconing Republican Club and chairman of the Midland Medical Center Committee.

State's Job Picture May Change Soon

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24 (AP)—The sharp upsurge in unemployment in Maryland may have run its course.

That was indicated by figures released today by the Department of Employment Security. The department said that while the number of checks issued to jobless last week broke another record, new applications for unemployment pay dropped for the second straight week.

This could mean that the number being furloughed or dismissed is decreasing, meaning more work available.

Robert B. Kimble, executive secretary of the department, cautioned, however, that the period of decrease in new claims was still too short to indicate a positive trend.

Last week, the department issued 45,640 checks totaling $1,352,159. Until the recent upsurge, the highest number of checks issued in one week was 36,729, in December 1945.

Over half of the checks during the past month have gone to Baltimore residents.

Excellent Skiing Conditions Slated On Nearby Slopes

Excellent skiing conditions are expected this weekend at the Marsh Mountain slope in Garrett County and similar good sport is expected at slopes in nearby West Virginia.

The Western Maryland Ski Club reported the Marsh Mountain slope had from three to 24 inches of base snow and from three to four inches of powder snow.

As the report was received at 7 p. m. it was cold and snowing hard at the recreation center, along Deep Creek Lake. Continued cold is forecast there today.

Enjoying the Garrett County sport will be 44 skiing enthusiasts who arrived from Baltimore by special B & O coach.

Legion District To Meet Sunday

Mountain District American Legion will meet at Midland Post No. 169, American Legion, Sunday at 2:15 p. m.

District Commander Lonnie Marsh, a member of Victory Post No. 155 at Westport said all posts in Allegany and Garrett counties are urged to send representatives to this meeting.

Among other topics, district post membership will be discussed, and reports received from membership chairmen of each post. The district has a goal of 3,045 members for 1958.

Tawes Defers Inventory Tax Stand

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24 (AP)—J. Millard Tawes, front-running candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, put off today giving his opinion on the much-publicized manufacturers' inventory tax in Baltimore.

Baltimore removed the exemptions on manufacturing inventory and equipment in 1956 and assessed them at 100 per cent. Anne Arundel is the only Maryland county which doesn't tax at least a percentage of either stock or machinery.

Tawes said he would have a statement shortly outlining the tax policy he will advocate during the coming campaign. Although his running mate for the senatorial nomination is Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, who supports the inventory tax, some observers say they think Tawes will not support continuance of the tax in Baltimore or at least not in its present form.

Tawes refused again to give his views on school integration, although he said he might do so if he were asked for a public meeting.

Previously he said he would not give them until a complete ticket was formed. The ticket has been formed.

Tribett Dies Of Heart Attack

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 24 (AP)—A heart attack was blamed today for the death of Sgt. Frank H. Tribett, commander of the Eastern Panhandle's state police detachment, although an autopsy has been ordered.

Tribett, 42, died unexpectedly last night at Baker Veterans Administration Hospital here, where he was admitted a week ago for a leg operation. He appeared to be recovering satisfactorily and friends had dropped in to see him only shortly before he died.

Tribett enlisted in the State Police in 1935. He served at Martinsburg, Elkins, Sutton, Petersburg, Romney and Keyser before taking command of the 10-man detachment here, covering Berkeley, Morgan and Jefferson counties.

Survivors include his widow, two daughters and a son, all of Keyser.

Funeral services probably will be held Monday.

Heavy Snowfall Begins Falling In This Area

Motorists Urged To Use Caution

Cumberland and the surrounding areas had a short-lived snowfall yesterday afternoon, but the Weather Bureau predicted a heavy snowfall to move into this section during the night.

The city received one-half inch yesterday but snow began to fall again last night shortly before 10 p. m.

Trucks of the Street Department had most of the local streets salted yesterday evening and were all cleared except for a few spots, before last night's snowfall.

Robert G. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park, said the temperature was 28 degrees at 6 p. m. and the barometer was dropping which indicated that the center of the storm was still on the way.

The State Roads Commission here said roads in the immediate area were not in too good shape because of the slush which froze early in the evening. The SRC said 12 trucks and crews were out east and west of the city, cinder- ing U. S. Route 40 and other roads.

The SRC said motorists could get through without chains if caution was exercised.

Oakland only received one-half inch and most roads in the area were reported clear by the SRC office there. The temperature there last night was 25 degrees and the barometer was falling.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said U. S. Route 50 west on Allegheny Front was bad but rain was reported east of there.

Meyersdale, Pa., had several inches of snow and freezing rain was reported there last night. Petersburg, W. Va., also had two inches of snow yesterday with freezing rain late last night.

The Weather Bureau said that from four to six inches was expected to fall in this portion of the state during the night or early morning hours.

Temperatures will range from 25 to 33 degrees tomorrow with additional snow predicted tomorrow afternoon.

Driver Posts $500 Bond In Hit-Run

John H. Lewis, 87, of Defiance, Pa., was reported in "fair" condition last night in J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital, Huntingdon, Pa., where he was admitted on Thursday after being struck by a hit-run driver in front of the Post Office in Defiance.

When admitted to the hospital he was reported in serious condition but is now showing some improvement, according to attaches who said he sustained head and arm injuries and possible fractures.

Sarah Kuhstos, of RFD 2 Hope, Pa., was identified Thursday night by police as the driver of the car which struck Mr. Lewis as he walked along the road about 5:45 p. m.

She was arrested Thursday night at her home and yesterday appeared before Justice of the Peace H. Cyril Bingham of Bedford.

After she waived a preliminary hearing, she posted bond of $500 pending action of the February term of grand jury of Bedford County.

Mrs. Kuhstos was charged, authorities said, with failure to stop at the scene of an accident and also failure to identify herself.

Amcelle Group Insurance Benefits Total $510,325

Employees of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Corporation of America received $510,325.63 in group insurance benefits during 1957, according to the annual report issued this week by the Insurance Department.

The report revealed that 2,662 claims were paid, including 1,412 hospital claims for employees and their dependents who are covered under the company's insurance plan. Other benefits included accident and sickness weekly payments, surgical expense coverage, life, accidental death, and total and permanent disability payments.

Hudson Nix, personnel manager, stated that all of these claims were serviced promptly on a local basis by the Insurance Department, supervised by C. Bernard Tasker.

The 1957 claims raised the total benefits to $5,681,705 paid to Amcelle employees since the inception of the group insurance plan in 1944. Coverage has been extended eight times since the plan was established, and the life insurance now in effect totals $14,325,000. This figure includes the life insurance maintained by Celanese on retired employees.

Changes in recent years have included polio expense benefits in the amount of $5,000, major extension of hospital confinement and special charges and elimination of the waiting period for new and reinstated employees.

Since July 1947, the entire insurance coverage has been maintained by Celanese without cost to employees.

MORGANTOWN, Jan. 24 (AP)—

Bad weather stymied the search for a missing plane today in the rugged mountains along the Pennsylvania-West Virginia border.

Police and Civil Air Patrol units have been searching the Pennsylvania-Maryland-West Virginia area for a plane missing since Wednesday night.

It was believed to have been carrying William Mucklow, Morgantown businessman, as passenger, with Davis Fowler of St. Louis as the pilot.

The search was being conducted by the CAP out of Middletown, Pa., although West Virginia units, the Pennsylvania Highway Patrol and other agencies were helping out.

Maj. O. T. Clark of the CAP announced from Harrisburg this afternoon that only two planes were aloft because of bad flying weather, and they were being recalled.

Major Clark said the search had centered today in the Keyser-Elkins vicinity. He said the CAP had received a report from Keyser that a plane had made passes Wednesday night at the lighted railroad yards there, then flown off.

Jack Flick, commander of the CAP at Martinsburg, said that two CAP automobile units were in the area, but one of those was returning to Morgantown because snow-covered roads made driving hazardous.

The other one, Flick said, was last reported near Keyser but had not been heard from for several hours.

He said Pennsylvania state police were checking out a report that smoke was sighted late yesterday west of McConnellsburg, Pa.

It has been definitely established, Flick said, that the plane landed at Frederick, Md., about 1 p. m. yesterday for refueling. Then it took off for Morgantown.

Keyser Marine Obtains Award

Pfc. Robert L. Goller, USMC, of near Keyser, who was a former member of the Sixth Infantry Company, USMC, has been awarded the Leatherneck Rifle Marksmanship Award Certificate from the Marine Corps Magazine, "Leatherneck" for firing a score of 239 out of a possible 250 with an M-1 Rifle.

He made the score at the Marine Corps Air Station at Cherry Point, N. C., when the local Reserves underwent the annual field training last summer. Pfc. Goller is now undergoing basic training at Parris Island, S. C., according to Capt. Billy C. Menges, USMC, commanding officer of the local unit. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Goller, RD 2, Keyser.

National Head Of Eagles To Visit Aerie

54 New Members To Be Initiated

Martin J. Mol, of Detroit, Mich. grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will address members of Cumberland Aerie 245, F.O.E., North Mechanic Street, on Tuesday evening at the Aerie home.

The announcement was made yesterday by Glen W. Sonner, worthy president of the local aerie, who said that in conjunction with the president's visit a class of 54 new members will be initiated.

The special degree team of past presidents of the Cumberland Aerie will be headed by John L. Farrin. One of the largest classes in years, it is the result of a membership campaign in progress called "On The Warpath" which has been extended through February 1958.

A buffet luncheon and refreshments will be served after the initiation. Mr. Mol will be introduced by Herman L. Myers, past Eastern Regional Grand President, who is also Aerie 245 secretary.

Mr. Mol, who has been secretary of Detroit Aerie 82 since 1941 was elevated from grand worthy to vice president to his present office by the 1957 grand Aerie convention in New York last July.

Unit Backs Co. Library Proposal

The Allegany Board of Commissioners which met yesterday, received a letter from the Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women reaffirming its endorsement of an Allegany County Library.

Last year the group went on record favoring such a library. Yesterday's letter was signed by the president, Mrs. Jane H. Grindle, as well as other officers and some 20 members of the organization.

The Queen City Dairy received the "go ahead" signal from the commissioners to install a milk dispensing machine in the Court House.

Roy Simpson, representative of the local dairy, appeared before the board and asked permission to place the machine in the Court House.

Proceeds, he said, will go to Walter Herboldsheim, who operates a concession stand at the local Post Office. The board also received a letter from a Westernport resident, Mrs. Guy McKenzie, of 129 Main Street, who is interested in having a bookmobile for the county and she thinks "this would be money well spent."

Childress Posts Bond On Charge Of Obstruction

A Potomac Park man is being held under $2,500 bond for action of the April grand jury on a charge of obstructing justice.

He is Cortez Wilson Childress, 34, who waived a preliminary hearing on the charge yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Childress was picked up for questioning Thursday night by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and was taken to Trial Magistrates Court about noon yesterday.

He was charged by Mr. Lilya with "unlawfully and corruptly" causing Doris Ralston to absent herself as a witness on October 7 after she had been summoned to appear as witness in a case pending before the October Grand Jury concerning drinking in two downtown establishments.

Similar charges have been placed against James Edward Earsom, 49, of 12 North Mechanic Street, and City Detective Joseph H. Sticher, whose trials are docketed here next week.

Childress has been charged with influencing Miss Ralston to absent herself as a witness, while the other two men each face two indictments, one involving Miss Ralston and the other Miss Betty Lou Pryor, 19, of Jane Frazier Village.

Mr. Lilya said Childress, a car salesman, is being charged as one of the parties responsible for getting the girl out of town.

He said Childress was involved in the transportation angle of the case and used his car.

Trial of criminal cases in Allegany County Circuit Court will be resumed Monday.

Chief Judge George Henderson is attending the state judges meeting in Baltimore and Judge Morgan C. Harris is not available because of a death in his family. Yesterday many attorneys went to Baltimore for the mid-winter meeting of the State Bar Association.

Head out on the docket for Monday are two cases of obstructing justice. The indictments were returned by the January grand jury against Det. Sticher and Earsom.

Tuesday will be the trial of James E. Porter on two charges of statutory rape and one count of incest.

Wednesday's cases will be those of William Joseph Tilton for false pretenses and forgery, and Alvin E. Heavner and Raymond G. Everett for paternity.
